Submitting Meeting Information Updates ~ Jesse

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for being so helpful during this season of extreme change. As meetings open back up and some online meetings continue while others fade away, I'd like to ask that everyone please continue providing updates through the form on the site. The form is set up in a way that makes it easier to accommodate all updates and is much more organized than direct emails to Intergroup. I greatly appreciate everyone's kindness and patience as we work hard to serve Central Florida AA, and I know speak for all of us when I say I can hardly wait to see everyone on the other side of this.

AA's Twelve Steps are principles for personal recovery. The Twelve Traditions ensure the unity of the Fellowship. The Twelve Concepts for World Service provide a group of related principles to help ensure that various elements of A.A.'s service structure remain responsive and responsible to those they serve. Step Six: "Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character." Tradition Six: "An A.A. group ought never endorse, finance or lend the A.A. name to any related facility or outside enterprise, lest problems of money, property and prestige divert us from our primary purpose." Concept Six: "On behalf of A.A. as a whole, our General Service Conference has the principal responsibility for the maintenance of our world services, and it traditionally has the final decision respecting large matters of general policy and finance. But the Conference also recognizes that the chief initiative and the active responsibility in most of these matters should be exercised primarily by the trustee members of the Conference when they act among themselves as the General Service Board of Alcoholics Anonymous."

History's Corner, June, 2020---- Tradition 1 – Unity of our Society

A vital and important reminder of Unity in 2020

“Our common welfare should come first; personal recovery depends upon AA unity”

By the early 1940's the fellowship began to grow in leaps and bounds because of the dedicated work of the first hundred AA's and favorable public recognition of what AA was trying to accomplish, sobriety from alcoholism. Also, person to person contact with the founders was becoming increasingly difficult to keep.

The writing and distribution of the book Alcoholics Anonymous in 1939, the Jack Alexander article discussing the AA society in the Saturday Evening Post in 1941, the Cleveland experience, and the New York Rockefeller dinner in 1940 created much fervor and frantic growth in membership. Unity became a problem, a genuine problem, because no rules or guidelines were in existence to show members how to organize and create a group setting.

Bill W. and the early alcoholics knew rules would not work, lectures were frowned upon, and organization was looked at with great apprehension, so the early members decided on suggested traditions to create unity within the group settings.

The first tradition is about unity and how to acquire it, and more importantly how to keep it within the working framework of the group. So what principles, ideas, functions create unity, we can cite some examples below, but certainly it would not be a comprehensive list, so let us look.

First, the greatest act of unity within the fellowship was the writing and agreement among the first 100 alcoholics of the book Alcoholics Anonymous, it was common to recognize prayer at each meeting, to confine our discussion in meetings to our primary purpose, which is recovery from alcoholism through the working of the 12 steps, to see a common problem, a common interest and a common solution. Also, anyone may become a member if they wish to recover from alcoholism; each group would be independent, have no affiliation with any outside interest, would remain anonymous in the public's eye and claim no public authority as the sole path to help alcoholics. The group would be supported financially by its members only, no outside funding or outside influence would be accepted, organization would be minimal or none at AA, and the group would be managed by an informed group conscious, a democracy of participating members.

The unity principles were 12 in number and ratified by the 1950 international convention in Cleveland Ohio. These have worked successfully to keep group survival over the last 65 years. Unity within the group is essential for our continued success and survival.
